MILLION MEN IN FRANCE BY JULY 4TH

Washington, May 24.—The American army in France now numbers 650,000 men. It will be 1,000,000 strong on the Fourth of July, and a force of 2,000,000 on Christmas day.

Congressman Richard Olney of Massachusetts made public these figures today, having been authorized to do so by his colleagues of the House committee on military affairs. The figures are the most definite statements yet given out concerning the nation's overseas strength.

The prospects upon which the estimate of a Christmas day army of 2,000,000 is based, looks forward to a flow of 300,000 soldiers across the Atlantic each month during the fall. This month will land 250,000 reinforcements for Gen. Pershing. The first 10 days of May sent 50,000 American soldiers down the gangplanks of transports. Since April 1, 275,000 American troops have landed in France.

J. G. BENNETT IS BURIED IN PARIS

Paris, May 24.—The funeral of James Gordon Bennett, owner of the New York Herald, took place Thursday in Trinity church. It was attended by members of the government and the diplomatic corps, including the American ambassador, William G. Sharp; the Spanish ambassador Senor Quinones, and the French foreign minister, Stephen Poincare. Several United States naval officers were in the procession to the cemetery.

The pallbearers were attaches of the American embassy and friends and business associates of Mr. Bennett. The Rev. Frederick W. Beckman, rector of the church, officiated. He was assisted by Bishops McCormick and Israel.

Floral designs from French and American societies and friends were numerous, and hundreds of Parisians and others who wished to pay tribute to Mr. Bennett's memory followed the procession from the church to the cemetery.

New York, May 24.—While funeral services for James Gordon Bennett, for many years publisher of the New York Herald and the Evening Telegram, were being held in Paris Thursday, all activity was suspended in the offices of the two newspapers, while employees paid silent tribute to the memory of the famous journalist.

For the first time in 25 years the chatter of presses, linotypes and typewriters ceased throughout the big newspaper plant. The silence was broken only by intermittent tolling of the bell in the Herald office by the ringing of which, it is said, Mr. Bennett used to announce his unexpected arrival in New York from Europe.

ELIOT

A special service will be held in the Congregational church on Sunday consisting of patriotic recitations by some of the young people, patriotic hymns and a short address by the pastor on the thought of the day.

AUTHORITY TO CALL ALL MEN OF A DRAFT AGE

President Given unlimited Authority in Number of Men,--All Men Must Work or be Drafted

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 23.—Two important steps were taken today in the plans for winning the war. Soon after President Marshall (General Crowder) announced the drastic amendments to the selective service laws to make every man of a draft age fight or work. Secretary Baker of the War Department appeared before the Military committee and asked that the President be authorized to call all men of a draft age that can be equipped and transported to France. No recommendations were made for changing

Under the existing law only one million men in addition to special units can be called by the President, but with the proposed change he can call every man of the draft age.

General Crowder's new regulations means that not only the loafer is to be made to work or fight, but the all men engaged in work considered non-essential will be told to quit and get a new job on active war work or join the colors.

EXPECT GERMAN DRIVE TO START IN FEW DAYS

(By Associated Press)

Germany's preparation for the resumption of the great offensive are now reported to have been completed and the Teutonic legions are now awaiting the word of command to launch their attack upon the western line from which they recoiled in the attacks of a month ago.

Allied leaders think that the blow will be struck in a few days and they are awaiting the test of strength of arms with supreme confidence in their men and their positions.

In the meanwhile only artillery and aerial activities are reported. Around Kemmel on the Ypres line, there is again marked bombardment of the allied position but they are returning it. German official reports mention a number of infantry attacks on the Ayre river but these are most likely of minor importance in the nature of raids and carried out to better the allies positions.

In the air however the fighting has grown in intensity and there has been great activities reported from all sectors especially at points where the heaviest infantry fighting has been held in the past. There has been repeated clashes between the airmen and there has been severe losses.

American airmen are reported on the Lys sector and according to German official reports, three Americans were down on Wednesday. This is the first time that they have been reported on this sector, but are probably accompanying the large number of American troops said to be in this vicinity.

The Germans have been making air raids far back of the allies line, and a determined effort has been made to reach Paris by a large squadron of German planes, but the most of them fell and dropped their bombs on the outskirts, one or two did penetrate the defense and dropped their bombs, but comparative little damage was done.

An attack by the German airmen on an allied hospital behind the western line, held on Sunday in which the Germans dropped a large number of bombs and did considerable damage.

There has been some shrapnel fighting reported from the Italian front.

Internal trouble in Austria shows little signs of abating according to reports. There has been more demonstrations in Prague where anti-German songs were sung and the name of President Wilson cheered.

There has been serious fighting at Kiev between the forces under General Skoropansky the self styled Hetman and the loyal troops to the Tsar, who was ousted by the Germans.

ARCTIC EXPLORER CLOSE TO DEATH BY STARVING

London, May 23.—Knut Rasmussen, the Danish explorer, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen, has reached Long's Firth with his Arctic expedition and has chartered all the Firths of northern Greenland. Important scientific results, the explorer says, have been obtained. Rasmussen and his second Thule expedition left Denmark in April, 1916.

Reuter's Copenhagen correspondent transmits a telegram from Rasmussen in which the explorer says his advance was attended with the greatest difficulties. Two companions, Hendrik Olsen and Dr. Wulff, perished. After Olsen's death says the explorer, "we started on our homeward journey and reached land on Aug. 24 at Cape Agassiz in a bad plight, without provisions, having eaten all the dogs."

The explorer says he and a companion walk to Etah, whence they despatched sledges with provisions for the rest of the party, but that the relief arrived too late to save Dr. Wulff, who had been unable to survive the last efforts.

PORTSMOUTH REFUSES TO DISCUSS POLITICS

People generally refuse to talk politics. Now Portsmouth refuses to get excited over political gossip at this time. There are more important matters pertaining to Portsmouth and the country and the men in uniform than to discuss political interests. There is a Red Cross fund to raise and later more liberty bonds to sell and the Y. M. C. A. and the K. of C. to be maintained. Portsmouth and vicinity is back of President Wilson and Secretary Daniels to one man in this movement to win the war, and this will be demonstrated at every opportunity.

Boost the Red Cross. Boost the men going to the front. Boost the new bridge project, but don't inject a political campaign at this time.

WAR GARDENS DISTRIBUTED

The distribution of the war gardens lots at the city farm, were made on Thursday by Secretary Baker of the Chamber of Commerce, for the committee. Not all of the lots were available only those up to 50 were given out at this time and in all cases only one lot allowed to a person.

As far as practical the people were given the same lots, but the demand has been so great that only one could be given a person, where as last year there were several people who cultivated and care for two lots.

The ground has been all plowed, fertilized and harrowed and it is now ready for planting and this in some cases has already been started as many of the people had everything in readiness and started to work at once.

Here a fire started in the waste material and it spread over considerable area before it was finally checked.

Cambridge, May 23.—The Cambridge Common is today a part of the navy. For the time being, however the people of Cambridge may make use of its benches and shade trees. Yesterday Rear Admiral Spencer S. These plans will not be ready for the bidders until next Monday and then for a period of several days Rear Admiral Wood, or one of his assistants, will be in a position to receive bids for the actual construction work.

Present plans call for the erection of 12 buildings on the Common, all save two of which will be for barracks purposes. When completed the barracks will house 200 radio students and, providing the same quota is maintained in the dormitories and other places now in use, the school will have a total of 600 students.

TWO MILLION FOR BRIDGE NEEDED

What will Portsmouth get in the way of expenditure of the $23,000,000 passed to the credit of the Boston & Maine railroad by the government? It should receive an amount sufficient to construct a safe bridge across the Piscataqua to serve this vital artery as a war necessity of the first importance to this territory. There can be no more important point on the Boston and Maine requiring improvement than this. It is up to Portsmouth and this section to bring about every particle of influence and power to get this

America in the War.

To a certain extent the United States has been in the war for a little more than a year, but in reality it is just getting into it. For reasons which may be valid or not the movements of this country after declaring war against Germany seemed painfully slow.

But, whatever the mistakes or shortcomings of the past, the time for delay—not to say dilly-dallying—has gone by and the country is now in the war in fact as well as in name. The German spring drive gave a good idea of the magnitude of the work in hand and the effect on the United States was almost magical. The War Department soon found that it could do some things which it had thought it could not do, and from that time things began to move.

And they have since been moving faster than most people have realized. A dispatch from Washington informs the country that the number of soldiers sent across this month will reach 200,000, and that 250,000 more will be sent in June. According to present plans the United States will have 2,000,000 men on foreign soil by Christmas, many of whom will be in the trenches and the others in training. This means a force that will count on the fighting line, a force that will leave the United States far from "negligible" in the estimation of the enemy.

It is well that this is so. The war is not yet won. It is going to be won by the nations that are standing together against the most colossal menace that ever confronted civilization, but there is much hard work yet to be done and much of sacrifice to be made, and it is reassuring to know that this country is beginning to play its proper part in the great and horrifying world drama. The call is for man-power and that is now going forward in volume that counts. The stream will be kept up as long as the necessity exists, whether it be one year, two years or five years. A military autocracy that seeks to dominate the world by brute force must and will be made to bite the dust, no matter how long a time, how many men or how many billions it may take to do it.

If the German leaders are half as shrewd as they are reputed to be they cannot fail to see the handwriting on the wall. It is plain to the rest of the world that their dream of world domination is to be mercilessly shattered, and it will soon be made plain to them. The end may not be in sight, but there can be no doubt as to what the end will be. And when it comes the United States will have the credit, the honor and the glory of having done its full share in restoring peace to the world and liberty to the peoples of the world.

Governor Henry W. Keyes has become a national figure through his ability to make the governorship a business man's job. He has handled the war work through New Hampshire with skill which has attracted attention throughout the country. His recent declaration to the farmers, "I am sowing wheat; are you?" has been raised on banners all over the land. His work in operating the draft law in the state and the organizing of machinery to operate it was another successful piece of work. His work has been a night and day job for many months.

MAKES RECORD FOR RIVETING AT NAVY YARD

Michael Lynch and Crew Drive 1931 Rivets in Eight Hours.

A record was established at Portsmouth navy yard on Thursday in rivet driving by one of the crews in the ship fitting force. This is the first time the yard officials and the workmen have entered into such a matter and there is promise of a lively contest among the men to see just what can be accomplished in this part of the government shipbuilding.

The record was made by Michael Lynch as riveter, A. Sanderson holder on, H. T. Holmes passer and A. Moody heater. Lynch succeeded in driving 1931 rivets in one of the submarines in the working period of eight hours.

Today signs were placed about the yard and in the shops announcing the record made by Lynch, which is considered by the officials and other workmen as an excellent one. However, the blackboard which will announce the records each day may, tell the workmen that there are other speedy riveters using the hammers at the yard.

Today it was whispered that Lynch will be up against some fast men and not only his record, but that of several others will be shattered when the guine gets really started. Anyhow, Lynch and his crew have nothing to be ashamed of in one day's work for Uncle Sam.

NAVY YARD NOTES

Protest is Being Made.

Local naval officials have called the attention of the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce and the navy department at Washington to the fact that rents of houses occupied by government workmen have been doubled and in some cases the occupants ordered to vacate. The matter is already in the hands of the navy bureau. The local naval men claim it not only interferes with the service which workmen give the government but is unjust to the tenants under such conditions as now exist in Portsmouth relative to the housing problem.

NEED OF MORE GENEROUS GIVING

Red Cross Collection Coming Slowly--- Not Half of Quota Reached

While there is still four more days of the Red Cross War Fund drive, which closes on Monday evening, it looks as though it would require all of that time to bring this city up to the sum which the local committee would be satisfied with.

That is unless the people of the city, and especially in the business district give more liberally, or give as much they really should. To the altogether too often heard expression "We are tired of giving" the cartoon in one of the leading magazines, depicting the mother and little child fleeing before the Germans tottering under the load of their bundles, with the inscription "You don't know what it is to be tired" could well be recommended.

The Campaign committee at first thought to publish the names of the donors to the fund over a certain sum, but there was enough objection to this to cause them to rescind their vote, but they wish it to be understood that the campaign is going very slowly and that Portsmouth will not reach its quota unless people give more liberally. A great many contributions of five and ten dollars have been received from people whom we hoped to get larger contributions. We appeal to those people to come forward and if not a canvass will be necessary.

A meeting of the Committee and the team captains was held at three o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce and the contributions "go" over. There has not been anywhere near as generous response as the committee expected. There are a great many five dollar contributions, but twenty-fives and tens that should be fifty or a hundred.

There is only one what could be termed a large donation and only a very few over a hundred dollars. However there is still four days and people may see their duty in that time.

The Navy Yard up to Thursday evening collected $3000 which does not represent a dollar a man, but they are still at work and hope to make a much better showing.

The Boston yard, civilian and enlisted men have already contributed $18,100, but in this yard only the civilian collection has been counted, so that a comparison cannot be made, although it is obvious that this yard is not anywhere near Boston.

At the time, the city while the report has been made it is understood that they are making good progress and that the employees are taking a pride in seeing that their yards make a big showing.

The National Meats and Traders, and the First National Bank have declared an extra dividend which practically amounts to one half of one percent or approximately $1,000 for both banks. Other corporations are it is understood to take action and in all cases the dividends go to the Red Cross, that being the purpose of the extra dividend.

90,000 MEN CROSSED IN TEN DAYS

Washington, May 23.—In a statement inserted in the House record today, Representative Caldwell of New York, a member of the military committee, declared that during the first 10 days of May 90,000 American soldiers were sent abroad, and said that after the expiration of one year, from the arrival of the first shipment of troops from this country, the United States would have one million men in France, equipped with the necessary arms and supplies.

When a request was made for a small expeditionary force from this country, critics of the administration, Mr. Caldwell said, declared it would be impossible to ship from 50,000 to 100,000 men in the first year of the war.

PAYS BIG PRICE FOR NEW STAMPS

New York, May 23.—A sheet of 100 of the new postal airplane stamps, but with the airplane turned upside down through an error made by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington, has been purchased from a Philadelphia stamp dealer for $20,000 by Colonel B. H. R. Green of Texas, son of the late Henry Green. Over a window counter at the post office in Washington this sheet sold for $24.

Three other such sheets were discovered and were purchased so that their postal value was nullified, and probably will be destroyed.

DUPING POOR FRITZ

(From the Chicago Evening Post)

After he has been told the German soldier by his officers, he has seen photographs of St. Paul's Cathedral in ruins; he has heard stories of how German prisoners are maltreated by the British and French; he has been informed that Von Hindenburg is dead.

The purpose of this test lies—for which it seems to be, since other dispatches tell of the famous general's attending a conference at headquarters—may not appear so clearly as others that have duped poor Fritz and cheered his drooping spirits in hours of reverse, but it is evidence of the straits to which the command of the German army has come in its effort to maintain morale. The death of Von Hindenburg might account for the delay in winning promised, view some other way than as due to the victory—the delay must be explained in substance of the Allies. It perhaps, prepares the army for the accession of Von Mackensen to the place held by their idol.

But the failure of such methods is so obvious one would think the German command would see that they cannot serve the desperate ends for which they are employed. The lies about the American army being dispersed and the lives exposed. The lies about the destruction wrought in London must have been discovered long since. What becomes of the confidence of the rank and file under such experiences, often repeated? And what can be the state of mind of the leaders who find it necessary to mislead so elaborately in order to obtain from their men some measure of response to their urging?

They keep pigs in its parlor in Tarentum, Penn., according to Congressman John R. Neuhart. At a recent meeting of the Tarentum Borough Council, he announced that a certain family is accustomed to keeping real live porcupines about the property. "They are cute little things," he added, "and go in and out of the house at will."

The first of the hundreds of thousands of names on the end index of the Bureau of War Risk and Insurance of the United States is Clayton Alloysius Amb, the last is Joseph Zyn.

CAN'T BEAT "TIZ" WHEN FEET HURT

"Tiz" for sore, tired, puffed-up, aching, calloused feet, or corns.

You can be happy-footed in a moment. Use "Tiz" and never suffer with tender, raw, burning, blistered, swollen, tired, aching feet. "Tiz" and only "Tiz" takes the pain and soreness out of corns, callouses and bunions.

As soon as you put your feet in a "Tiz" bath, you just feel the happiness soaking in. How good your poor, old feet feel. They want to dance for joy. "Tiz" is grand. "Tiz" instantly draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause sore, inflamed, aching, sweet feet.

Get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" at any drug store or department store. Get instant foot relief. Laugh at foot sufferers who complain. Because your feet are never, never going to bother or make you limp any more.

SOLDIERS TAKE TO GOVERNMENT INSURANCE

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 23.—More than $16,000,000 insurance on the lives of more than 1,800,000 soldiers and sailors already has been written by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance. That is said to be more insurance, all written since the middle of last October, than is today on the books of the twenty largest life insurance companies in the world. All kinds of problems have been met with in achieving this gigantic task, according to information furnished to Congress by Thomas B. Love, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of the bureau, and other officials.

The war risk law provided for payment of family allowances and allotments and for administration of a compensation insurance law applicable to 2,000,000 risks and for the writing of this insurance on the lives of a possible 2,000,000 soldiers and sailors. The applications for allowances and allotments of the soldier's or sailor's pay had to be obtained from the ends of the earth to which those in war service have been scattered. From December 20 until the beginning of this month the bureau mailed out 2,300,000 individual checks to families of dependents in the United States, approximately $60,000,000 has been paid out in allowances and allotments; and in addition, many thousands of claims for compensation have been made, some paid and others disallowed.

More than 50 per cent of the soldiers and sailors listed at the bureau have taken the insurance and applications for it have come in at a daily rate involving $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 of insurance during the last month. A clerical force of about 4,300 people is employed by the bureau in the work. A bill is now pending in Congress, favorably reported by the House Interstate commerce committee, amending the law in a number of details, providing for instance that automatic insurance shall be payable to the mother whether dependent or not and to the father as well, and making other broadening features in the interest of the soldier's nearest of kin.

Bureau records show that there are 1,062,091 application blanks returned on which the man states he has no dependents of any kind. "There is a surprisingly large percentage of those men who do have dependents, the first knowledge of whom the bureau learns when the dependents write in for information."

One of the surprising developments is the number of complaints that the bureau is getting "from men who have asked exemption from their wives or who claim they have no wives." In one city recently Commissioner Nesbitt, of the Bureau, has advised Congress, he recently sent an investigator to look into 33 cases where men had claimed exemption from their wives and said they did not know where the wives were living. The bureau located 31 of the 33 wives within a week and the government has absolute evidence that many of those men know where their wives were. The men did not want the wives to get the money.

In the course of the testimony recently given before the House committee, Paymaster General Charles of the Navy, declared that in the exceptional cases where naval officers do not support their families they are made to do so very quickly. About six weeks ago a wife called at the Navy Department about failure of support and "inside of fifteen minutes" said Admiral Cowie, that gentleman was sent such a letter that he looked out for her in proper order and inside three days I had an allotment in my office from him."

The war risk amendments are being handled on the floor of the House by Representative Rayburn, of Texas, a member of the Interstate commerce committee.

DANIELS UPHOLDS WOODS

Washington, May 23.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels declared in a letter received by Congressman George Holden Tinkham of Boston today that the refusal of Commanding Wood of the First Naval District to allow naval baseball teams to participate when gate receipts are collected is not a local policy but the policy of the whole Navy. Mr. Daniels said that difficulties have arisen in the district because a number of professional players, who have enrolled in the Reserve, want to play a regular schedule. This plan, the Secretary said, was not approved, because it would prevent the men from being trained for naval duty. He said those players are being sent in as fast as they qualify for duty about. Mr. Tinkham will take up again with the Secretary some of the questions which the latter did not answer.

France during the present month One million American soldiers will be in France on July 4, and, if present estimates are correct, two million will be in France by Christmas Day. Of the one million men who will be in France by July, sixty per cent will be combat troops and forty per cent non-combat troops.

The foregoing figures, more definite than others made public since the sending of troops overseas began months ago, were given today by Congressman Richard Olney of Massachusetts, who was authorized by colleagues on the House Committee on Military Affairs to make figures known. The statistics were given the committee during its consideration of the $12,000,000 Army appropriation bill which will be supported in the House today or tomorrow. The committee believes that from now on not less than 200,000 men will be sent across the sea each month, and it is said it is possible the total will increase to $300,000 a month by fall. Fifty thousand more men will be sent to France this month than was believed possible a few weeks ago. It is known that one transport has been loaded, sent across the Atlantic, unloaded and returned to a port of embarkation in seventeen days. The round trip frequently required fifty days a few months ago.

NAME WOODEN SHIPS BY AUCTION BIDS

Mayor Samuel T. Ladd received the following telegram on Thursday evening which should boost the Red Cross War Fund especially if some group of citizens decide that it is worth paying for to have the name Portsmouth on one of the new wooden ships to be launched soon.

"The United States Government has given the Red Cross the right to name the first four wooden ships to be launched in the next few weeks in the New England district.

We feel that this is an opportunity to add to the war funds by auctioning off the privilege of naming the four to the highest bidder. Name must be acceptable to the committee.

Each winner may attend launching and christen ship and in add to what ever chapter he may designate the amount of his bid. Please help by advising the local papers and prominent individuals and corporations of your community. Groups of men may like to honor names of their own towns. Telegraphic bids accepted but must be at 125 Milk street by Monday noon May 27th. Signed D. W. Trafford the New England campaign chairman.

WITHOUT LIMIT

(From the New York World)
Why anybody should have hit upon $500,000 as a figure inspired and sacred it would be hard to say, but for weeks past it has been used as measuring grandly our physical participation in the struggle, and by comparison with the forces already under arms, making the efforts and plans of the Administration appear deficient.

There never was a weaker or more futile attempt to force the hand of a far-sighted and determined Government. Having from the first expressed his purpose, with the sanction of Congress, to employ our resources "without limit," the President adheres strictly to that policy by asking of the legislative branch that no restrictions be placed at present upon the number of men that he may call into service. A commander-in-Chief whose first duty is to win the war will not suffer much from the carrying of those who attempt to put his activities within metes and bounds.

We are to win this fight because we have pledged all that we have to it and we are not doing up men or our money. We are not stinting our efforts or our money. The evil works of autocracy, exist no less than west, are to be undone because all these

LYNCHINGS AND LABOR

(From the New York Evening Post)

For some time past lynchings in the South have refused to let sex be a bar to the full enjoyment of their pastime, so that the news that a colored woman was hanged by a mob upon the charge that she had taken part in the killing of a farmer, and the beating of his wife, need surprise no one. Some years ago some of these volunteer upholders of justice in Mississippi captured a woman whose husband they suspected of crime. Unable to find him, they filled her skin full of pine splinters and set fire to her; thence we have something to be thankful for that the latest lynching was at least not quite so barbaric as it might have been. But the killing of four in a day is a pretty sad answer to the Attorney General's appeal to the country to stop this sort of thing. We do not like to accuse anybody of pro-Germanism, but it strikes us that the lynchers, both North and South, are doing precisely what the Kaiser would like to have them. Every time that there is a lynching there is an immediate dislocation of labor in that neighborhood and an immediate taking of the train North by from dozens to hundreds of negroes who believe in orderly trials for crime. Few people realize how critical is the labor situation in the South, or how it is going to affect certain crops if the supply is not conserved. The drift to the North continues to be steady, and every lynching augments it. If the argument of humanity and decency will not prevail, perhaps that of self-interest will. But, meanwhile, as President Wilson said of the proposal to turn certain cases over to courts-martial every fresh lynching deepens us to the Prussian level and makes it the more difficult for Americans to hold the Germans up to scorn for their crimes against humanity.

IF KERENSKY COMES

(From the New York Herald)

If he does come to this country Mr. Kerensky will receive a hearty welcome.

It was through no fault of their own that Mr. Kerensky and other believers in true democracy were unable to stem the tide of anarchy. Long-distance judgments of their sins of commission and of omission were based upon assumption that Russia was something else than Russia, that Russians possessed the same foundations of understanding that the peoples of self-governing democracies have required. Had these things been so, Mr. Kerensky or some other man who understands the fundamentals of democracy as he does would have been kept at the helm.

With their better knowledge of the problems he had to face Americans have substituted sympathy for their earlier criticism, and if Mr. Kerensky comes to this land he will be welcomed as a patriot who thought right and did his best even though he failed.

A BRILLIANT CHURCH WEDDING

Miss Dorothy G. Thayer Becomes the Bride of Rev. Theodore A. Greene, at the North Church

One of the most interesting nuptial events held in Portsmouth for some time occurred on Thursday afternoon at four o'clock at the North Congregational Church when Miss Dorothy Goldwaite Thayer, only daughter of the pastor, the Rev. and Mrs. Luther Harrison Thayer, became the bride of the Rev. Theodore A. Greene, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Frederick William Greene of Middletown, Conn.

In recognition of the event the church was beautified with flowers and greenery. The decorations were all in green and white and marked by simplicity yet seemed all the more beautiful for this reason. Lilies and bridal wreaths in which greenery intermingled were used entirely in the adornings. On each side of the organ were immense branches of white lilies in full bloom. The chancel rail was bordered with greenery and at the top were branches of white lilies arranged a short distance apart. The pulpit was entirely concealed by a massing of bridal wreaths, lily leaves and laurel.

A general and cordial invitation had previously been extended parishioners and friends by the pastor from the pulpit, cards of invitation being sent only to out of town guests. Long before the hour announced the guests began to gather and the pews of the spacious edifice were soon filled.

The guests were escorted to seats by eight ushers, Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, Labrador; Dr. Joseph Cochran, New York; Mr. Frederick S. Greene, a brother of the groom, of Middletown, Conn., and of the Reserve Officers Training Camp at Annapolis; Mr. Daniel Bliss, of Beirut, Syria, and the Reserve Officers Training Camp at Annapolis; Mr. Donald Winston of New York, a classmate of the groom at Union Theological Seminary; Mr. Cedric Long of New York, a classmate of the groom at Union Theological Seminary; Mr. Sterling Lamprecht, New York; Mr. E. Curtis Matthews, Portsmouth; Mr. Lyman Almy Perkins of Boston, a former organist of the church presided at the organ. Miss Mary Thayer of Minneapolis, a cousin of the bride and Mr. Leon Van Vleet, the noted cellist of Boston, also assisted in the musical program during the incoming of the guests and the exquisite musical selections rendered by each were greatly enjoyed.

The numbers were as follows:
Organ
"Messe De Marlage".....Dubois
Mr. Perkins
Cello Solos
"A. Dawning".....Cushman
"The Old Refrain".....Kreiser
"Wiegenlied".....Brahms
Mr. Van Vleet
Organ
"Sanctus".....Gounod
Mr. Perkins
Violin Solos
"Arioso".....Handel
Romance.....Wienawski
Miss Mary Thayer

At the appointed hour the organ pealed forth the familiar but ever beautiful "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" and at the first strains of the composition the bridal party entered the church and slowly advanced down the aisle, the ushers by couples leading, followed by the two bridesmaids, Miss Anna B. Greene of Middletown, Conn., sister of the groom, and Miss Gine Davis of Reading, Mass., a classmate of the bride at Smith College.

They wore simple but dainty gowns of organdie of a soft green shade, with lavender sashes, hats of the same that with bands of pink. Each carried a bouquet of lavender iris intermingled with greenery.

The matron of honor followed, Mrs. James R. Bourne of New York, also a Smith College classmate of the bride, acting in this capacity. She wore an exquisite gown of lavender, fashioned with ruffles; hat of white leghorn, with pleated standing trimming about the crown and bands of pink. Her bouquet was of white iris. Then came the young bride leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Lucius Elsworth Thayer, a vision of loveliness, for a fairer bride never approached the marriage altar in this city.

She was exquisitely attired in ivory white satin, entrain, with garnitures of old lace and panel at the front embroidered in seed pearls. Her long tulle veil was arranged cap-shaped at the hair and caught at the back with a spray of orange blossoms.

A beautiful shower bouquet of Orphelia roses and swansons, gave the finishing touch to the bridal toilet. Both the gown and veil of the fair bride of Thursday were worn by her mother on her wedding day.

In front of the pulpit the bridal party was met by the groom and best man, Mr. J. Seelye Bixler of New York. The beautiful ceremony uniting the two young lives was impressively performed by the bride's father, the Rev. Lucius H. Thayer, D. D., who was assisted by the father of the groom, the Rev. Frederick William Greene, pastor of the South Congregational Church at Middletown, Conn.

The service seemed more touching and of unusual interest for the reason that the father of both the bride and the groom are Congregational clergymen and had been classmates at Amherst College and the groom had also lately been ordained as a clergyman in the Congregational faith. The service included an exchange of rings and after the bride's father pronounced the benediction, the father of the groom asked all to bow their heads in prayer and he asked God's blessing on the union of the two young people.

The marriage service concluded the Mendelssohn Wedding March peated out from the organ and to its music the bride and groom, followed by the bridal party, marched down the aisle and to the waiting carriage.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on State Street at which the out of town guests and a few young friends of the bride were present.

The adornings at the home were of Hadley roses and greenery. The bridal couple was assisted in receiving by their parents and the heartiest felicitations were extended. A wedding repast was served in the dining room.

The bride and groom left late on a short wedding trip and in about two weeks plan to start for Labrador with Dr. and Mrs. Grenfell where they will pass the summer, the groom to be associated with Dr. Grenfell in his work there.

The going away gown of the bride was of silver-toned Jersey cloth of tan shade, worn with dark blue hat, fashioned of blue crepe and straw.

The bride is a young lady of various accomplishments and by her sweet and gentle disposition has endeared herself to all who knew her intimately. She is a graduate of the Portsmouth High School class of '11, and of Smith College, class of '15 and class of '17, Simmons College. She has been actively interested in affairs of the North Church parish, is president of the Portsmouth College club and a member of the Gracfort Club, and will be much missed in the circles in which she moved.

The groom is a young man of the highest esteem, a graduate of Amherst College, class of '13 and of the class of '15 Union Theological Seminary, having been recently ordained.

That the future of the young couple may be filled with happiness and every good gift is the wish of their many devoted friends in this city and elsewhere.

A rich collection of wedding gifts testified to the love and esteem of friends in this city and elsewhere.

Among those in attendance at the wedding were guests from a number of New England cities as well as several from distant states.

Aged Inmates.

Seventeen little girls of the twenty-five who constitute the Walker Mission Band of the Middle Street Baptist church, went to the Mark H. Wentworth Home on Pleasant street Thursday afternoon, and gave a very pleasing and varied entertainment. The program consisted of hymns and patriotic songs, solos, recitations, and a piano solo by Miss Gladys Hunt who also accompanied the singing.

The young philanthropists, who put much zeal and enthusiasm into their kindly service, also brought a gift of candy for each patient at the Home, and seemed to find as much pleasure in their visit as they gave to others.
